

Recognised worldwide as a leading expert on small business, Glen works extensively with large organisations that are keen to support their small business clients. Increasingly his small business and enterprise expertise has been sought internationally (primarily the UK, Australia and the USA). He has started eight successful small businesses since 1987 and remains a director of four (The Small Business Company Ltd, Future Capital Ltd, Camera and Digital Ltd, and Guthrie and Steele Ltd), and is a regular guest lecturer on the University of Canterbury's MBA Entrepreneurship paper. Author of six books on small business marketing, management, and investment topics, Glen is passionate about helping business owners through education, online tools and resources learn for themselves how to manage their business better.
